

Dear
Family & Friends,

As I lay here posting this message to you all I'm not sad or scared. Oh thank you Jesus! For you see, if I die, I will go to be with my heavenly Father. This brings me great comfort and hope. Dont get me wrong, I dont want to die, but if its my time I'm ready. Are you? None of us know where death will come. There's sooo much going on in this world. Since this journey with leukemia, God have shown himself to be faithful and loving to me regardless of all traumatic things I've faced; and guess what yall... I still say that I will live and not die but declare the works of the Lord. By His stripes I'm healed. So whether I have weeks, months, or however long I want God to get the glory in my life. So family and friends don't feel sorry for me but help to praise God in spite of everything. Also, about a week ago an old high school friend contacted me and she asked me, how I was dealing with all this. Yall I got excited for I was able to share my faith and tell her according to Gods word the way to salvation. This is what it's all about, leading others to Christ. So you see I cant give up and I'm not giving up. I'll just keep praising my way through. Because I know who holds my present and future. So, everyone; you all be encouraged to live a life pleasing to God and let us all get and keep our houses in order while we have an opportunity.

May God bless EACH of you. I love you all!!!
